Holiday Death Toll

Reaches 402

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Seven persons died in a single collision in North Carolina on Sunday, adding to the climbing Labor Day holiday traffic toll.

By early today the toll had reached 402.

The count for the three-day weekend began at 6 p.m. Friday and will end at midnight tonight.

State police worked with crowbars for an hour to disentangle the seven bodies from the wreckage of a head-on crash near Burgaw, N.C.

Dead are Lillie C. Servance, about 45, Cleveland Mathis, about 45, and Arthur L. Matis, 59, all of Rose Hill, N.C.; Dorothy G. Moore, 30, of Peep Run, N.C.; and Mamie L. Jenkins, 37, Dorothy Goodman, 53, and James T. Jenkins, 3, all of Burgaw.

A car-train accident near Tip-ton, Ind., took the lives of four elderly Elkhart, Ind., residents Sunday. Killed were Harry S. Lichtenberger, 73, his wife, Fay, 74, Goldie Shoup 78, and Edna Shoup, 70.

Sheriff's deputies said the car skidded 87 feet before striking the engine of a Norfolk & Western freight.

A number of multiple fatality accidents were recorded Saturday.

Workers Are Praised by President

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — Hailing rank-and-file workers for their support of his wage-price freeze, President Nixon today pictured competition and productivity as the keys "to a better life for the American working man and his family."

"On this Labor Day, 1971, I call upon all Americans to dedicate ourselves to a goal we have rarely been able to achieve in the past 40 years—a new prosperity without war and without inflation."

In a message prepared for broadcast from his Camp David retreat, Nixon acknowledged "there have been complaints; there have been counter-suggestions; there have been criticisms by special-interest groups."

"But the most heartening reaction" to the freeze, Nixon said, "was the surge of national confidence, the reaffirmation of our competitive spirit, the willingness to make personal sacrifice in pursuit of worthy goals by the man in the street, the worker on the job and the homemaker trying to balance the family budget."

Administration officials have steadfastly maintained that the 90-day freeze has strong support from workers, despite sharp criticism of the action from many labor leaders.

The President cited as "typical" a letter he said was from a Texas state employee whose wife is a teacher.

He quoted the letter as saying: "We were both due for salary increases in September ... but we will survive ... I've heard the young people using a phrase that might fit: Right on."

Gov. Preston Smith of Texas announced shortly after the freeze was imposed that he would defy it and grant state workers a scheduled pay raise. A legal showdown was avoided, however, when Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said he believed the state was legally bound to observe the freeze and Smith relented.

City Does Well Whiskeywise

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Louisville is only 39th in population among American cities, but it is second in buying 100-proof bourbon whiskey.

The statistic comes from the Bourbon Institute, which reports that Chicago was first and New York third.

It's only natural, explains a spokesman for a Louisville distillery. Most bourbon is made in Kentucky and "how many Scotch drinkers do you know who are Kentuckians?"

Japs Seeking to Better Relations

TOKYO (AP) — Foreign Minister Takeo Fukuda said today he will propose in Washington later this week "several ways and means" to solve problems that have strained U.S.-Japanese economic relations.

Speaking at a news conference before his departure, Fukuda did not spell out what proposals he would make at the meeting of the U.S.-Japan Committee on Trade and Economic Affairs in Washington Thursday and Friday. Fukuda, a former finance minister, is heading Japan's delegation to the talks.

Japanese press reports said this nation would make an offer at the conference to revalue the yen upward by 6 per cent if the United States would hike the price of gold. An increase in the price of gold, now pegged at 35 dollars an ounce, would be tantamount to a devaluation of the dollar, the reports said.

Finance Ministry officials refused comments on the reports.

The value of the yen has risen 6.4 per cent since it was floated Aug. 28 from the old parity of 360 yen to the dollar. It has been traded in recent days at 338.20 to a dollar.

Trusty Killed at Prison

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Terry Starain, 19, of Russellville, a trusty at Cummins Prison Farm, was killed Sunday after he was stabbed at the prison's dairy barn.

A spokesman said charges would not be filed in Starain's death until after the Criminal Investigation Division of the State Police completed an investigation.

Starain was serving a 10 year sentence from Sebastian County for forgery.

Warm, Humid Weather for State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Most of Arkansas was expected to have warm and humid weather again today with scattered showers and thunder-showers.

A weak cold front extending from the central Great Lakes region to Central Oklahoma was expected to move only slightly on the southern end and become stationary across the southern portion of Missouri and the northwest corner of Oklahoma.

The only change in Arkansas weather was expected to be a slight increase in cloudiness and shower activity in the northwest corner of the state.

Radar indicated no shower activity in the state this morning, but thunderstorms were located in Southwest Missouri and Northeast Oklahoma.

Temperatures Sunday ranged from 87 at Fayetteville to 93 at Texarkana.

The extended outlook calls for partly cloudy with little temperature change Wednesday through Friday. There will be a slight chance of showers Thursday.

Extra Feature in New Home

BUFFALO (AP) — John G. Burgio discovered Sunday that his recently purchased home had an unexpected extra feature—a World War I-vintage bomb in the basement.

"I was poking around in an old box in the cellar when all of a sudden I saw its fins," Burgio said. "I knew right away what it was."

Burgio called police and the bomb was removed for demolition. "We're always sending men out to that address," said Assistant Detective Chief Robert Gavin. "Burgio found some old grenades up in his attic a few weeks ago."

Gavin said the house was owned shortly after World War I by a retired Army colonel. It had been occupied since 1929 by a single woman.

FRONT MAN in the administration's dealing with allied governments on President Nixon's sweeping new economic measures, Paul A. Volcker, Treasury undersecretary for monetary affairs, has thrashed out details of the program in a tour of major European capitals.

Negro Man Is Shot to Death Here

George Willis, 42, was shot and fatally wounded early Sunday afternoon at his home on Old Highway 67 east near Hope city limits.

Sheriff Henry Sinyard said he is holding Ulysses May Young, 33-year-old Negro woman, Willis' sister-in-law, for questioning in the shooting.

Willis was shot with a .22 cal. rifle. He died shortly after in a local hospital. Sheriff Sinyard said the shooting followed a series of arguments.

Prison Head Resigns at Tucker

TUCKER INTERMEDIATE REFORMATORY, Ark. (AP) — Larry McGuire has submitted his resignation as superintendent of Tucker Intermediate Reformatory, Correction Commissioner Terrell Don Hutto said Saturday.

Hutto said that McGuire resigned for personal reasons, but there were reports that Hutto had asked for the resignation.

Sources said McGuire was told by Hutto that he wanted his "own man" for the Tucker job. Hutto, in an interview, said Saturday a replacement for McGuire had not been found.

McGuire was named superintendent by former Correction Commissioner Robert Sarver, who was fired earlier this year at the request of Gov. Dale Bumpers.

Raid Results in Arrest of 4 Persons

PERRYVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Four persons were arrested Saturday night following a raid on a house in the Little Italy community (Perry County).

Officials said Earl Woodall, 24, who rented the house was charged with possession of dangerous drugs and marijuana and also possession with intent to sell.

Three other persons arrested in the raid were charged with possession of dangerous drugs and marijuana: James L. Craddock, 18, of North Little Rock; Roy A. Miller, 18, of North Little Rock and Miss Bobbie Diane Voss, 18, of Brockton, Mass.

Typhoon Was Damaging

HONG KONG (AP) — Typhoon Rose, which killed about 130 people and caused widespread damage in Hong Kong Aug. 17, also wreaked havoc in neighboring districts of mainland China, reports reaching here said today.

One report said hundreds of villagers and a number of soldiers there were killed and many fishing junks sunk.

Wants Freeze Followed by Controls Based on Productivity System

By MARGARET SCHERF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee has suggested the Nixon administration's 90-day freeze be followed by wage-price controls based on productivity.

Under the plan advocated by Sen. William Proxmire in an interview Sunday, an industry whose productivity increased at the current average rate of about 4 per cent a year could raise wages by 5 per cent and prices by 1 per cent.

A board made up of representatives from organized labor, business and government would determine productivity rates of major industries and require that wage and price increases be based on those figures.

Such an approach, the Wisconsin Democrat said, would hold price increases to 1 or 2 per cent a year and cut the unemployment rate from the present 6.1 per cent of the labor force to about 4.5 per cent within a year.

Proxmire projected such a program would create 1.5 million new jobs and find work for 1 million now unemployed.

In another development Sunday, AFL-CIO President George Meany said he would agree to a no-strike pledge following the wage-price freeze if conditions were met.

"I had a part in setting it," he said. "I agree, I am quite sure I'd give that pledge," said on the ABC's "Issues and Answers."

The Nixon administration already has asked for a moratorium on strikes during the freeze. But Meany and some other labor leaders have been reluctant to comply, saying they were not consulted before President Nixon announced his new economic program Aug. 15.

Proxmire said under his plan, most wages would be allowed to increase at the end of the wage-price-rent freeze to the 5-per-cent ceiling suggested last week by Arthur Okun, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

He gave the following examples to explain how his plan would work:

—An industry which experienced no productivity increase would be able to raise both wages and prices by a maximum of 5 per cent.

—One whose productivity rate increased by about 4 per cent could raise wages by 5 per cent.

Millions of Persons Flock to Resorts to Observe Labor Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Labor Day winds up the summer's last long holiday weekend today with a variety of celebrations and ceremonies and comments by some labor leaders and President Nixon on the administration's new economic policies.

Millions of Americans out to enjoy the holiday flocked to resorts and recreation areas. For many who stayed home there were traditional parades, picnics or other local observances.

Before the holiday traffic crush has cleared the highways, the National Safety Council said 600 to 700 persons will have died on the road.

In the West and Midwest, a cold front chilled some holiday plans. Up to 10 inches of snow closed mountain roads in parks in the Rocky Mountains.

President Nixon planned a 15-minute radio address to the nation from his Camp David, Md., retreat today. A spokesman said the speech would focus on "the contributions of the working man."

In weekend speeches, a number of labor leaders criticized the wage-price freeze in the President's new economic plan.

Reunion of Family Ends in Tragedy

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The estranged wife of a Fayetteville man walked into a family reunion uninvited Saturday night, killed her husband and three others and then killed herself, authorities said.

The shooting occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Basore Sr., located on a dirt road about 20 miles east of Fayetteville.

Sheriff Bill Long of Washington County identified the dead as Basore, 71, his 70-year-old wife Wilma; George Basore Jr., 49, of Fayetteville; Obie E. Harmon, about 49, of Oklahoma City, Okla., who is a son-in-law of the Basores, and Mrs. Eli-

Weather Keeps Searchers From Wreck

By ROBERT MOTTRAM
Associated Press Writer
JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Aviation experts and ground search parties, hampered by bad weather for two days, hoped today to begin untangling wreckage and ferrying out the bodies of 111 persons killed when an Alaska Airlines jet slammed into a mountain Saturday.

A small party of workers reached the craft's site when weather broke briefly Sunday.

Officials said they have no clues to what might have caused the crash, the worst involving one plane in U.S. history.

State troopers ordered winches into the trackless mountain area, 20 miles west of Juneau Municipal Airport, for use in retrieving the bodies of the 104 passengers and seven crew members.

State trooper Lt. Harry McLaughlin, directing the recovery operation, said the winches would lift the scattered bodies to a high mountain plateau where helicopters could pick them up.

Meanwhile, National Guardsmen were moving in camping gear, tents and food for recovery workers at the scene, where bad weather prevented the removal of any bodies Sunday. Thirty-four men had dug in for the night in a hastily erected tent city.

The Federal Aviation Administration imposed ban on airspace within a five-mile radius of the disaster scene, barring private aircraft from entering it. The move effectively shut off the remote mountain area for all but recovery parties.

Fifty-five of the passengers aboard the jet were believed to have been Alaskans. Six listed addresses in Juneau, the state's capital. Fifteen others were believed to be from Anchorage.

Gov. William A. Egan activated a National Guard unit in Juneau to assist in setting up a temporary morgue for the bodies.

The plane slammed into a 3,500-foot ridge about 1,000 feet below the top of the mountain Saturday after the pilot of the 727 jet, Richard Adams of Redmond, Wash., told the Juneau Municipal Airport tower he was on his final approach and was on a localizer directional aid from the airport.

The jet had been ordered earlier to hold over an aerial point known as the "Howard Intersection," centered 16.3 nautical miles west of the airport, while a light plane took off.

Killed in Missouri

ELLINGTON, Mo. (AP) — Missouri officials said Milton E. Hendrickson, 20, of the 97th Air Force Base in Blytheville, Ark., was killed on a county road near here Sunday.

Police said the victim lost control of his motorcycle and crashed into a tree.

TOUGH TALKER among cabinet members on the future direction of the administration's new economic policies is Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans, who has stated flatly that further controls will be necessary beyond the 90-day freeze.

On the battlefields, only small patrol actions were reported, but reports from Phnom Penh said the Communists were apparently increasing their forces in areas of Cambodia.

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Jack Lynch of Ireland arrived in London today for talks with Edward Heath, the British Prime Minister, aimed at halting the growing bloodshed in Northern Ireland.

After a weekend of terror that swelled the two-year death toll in the British province to 99, Lynch flew from Dublin for a summit meeting that stirs few hopes of an early peace settlement.

BEND, Ore. (AP) — A young married woman from Oregon participating in the graduation exercise of an outdoor survival school apparently lay down in wet snow and froze to death high on a central Oregon mountain.

Man Drowns in River

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Jefferson County officials said Leon Summers, 20, of Pine Bluff drowned in the Arkansas River near here Saturday when he apparently became exhausted while swimming to a river bank from a sandbar.

Motor Bike Accident Kills Youth

Dennis Irving Buckley, 15, of Hope, was killed about 9 p.m. Saturday when the motorbike he was riding crashed into the back of an auto on Highway 67 east near the Arkansas State Police station. Terry Smith, 14, riding with him, escaped serious injury.

The auto involved was owned and driven by Roger Maass of Phoenix, Arizona and was in process of making a left turn.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. JoAnn Buckley of Hope; his father, Ralph E. Buckley of Covina, Calif.; three brothers, Victor, Donald and Ralph Buckley Jr. of Hope; three sisters, Susan, Donna and Judy Buckley of the home; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Buckley of Hope and Mr. and Mrs. Daward Garner of Arkadelphia.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at Herndon Funeral Chapel by the Rev. C.C. Truitt. Burial will be in Friendship Cemetery by Herndon Funeral Home.

Seven Persons Lose Lives on Highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Seven persons have lost their lives on Arkansas highways during the long Labor Day weekend. Two children were killed in separate accidents Sunday.

The Associated Press weekend fatality count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Monday.

State Police said Bobby J. Ragains, 1½ months, of near Lowell (Benton County) was killed in a two-car accident on a Benton County road Sunday night.

Officials said that eight persons were injured in that crash. The accident occurred when a car driven by Bobby E. Ragains, 26, of near Lowell went out of control, crossed the center line and struck a car driven by Buren Storts, 55, of near Lowell.

The other child killed Sunday, was Shirley Best, 9, of Altheimer, who ran into the path of a car near Altheimer.

The victims included: —Roy Robert Wilson, 18, of Benton; killed Saturday night when his car went out of control on Arkansas 5 near Benton.

—Dennis Irwin Buckley, 14, of Hope; killed Saturday night when his motorcycle collided with a car on U.S. 67 near Hope.

—Allan L. Watkins, 19, of Pine Bluff; killed Saturday night when he lost control of his car on Arkansas 81 near Star City.

—Kenneth Lewis, 4, of near Camden; killed Saturday night when he ran into the path of a car on Arkansas 294, near Jacksonville.

—Stephen Barnard, 11, of near Jacksonville; killed Friday night when he ran into the path of a car on Arkansas 294, near Jacksonville.

Woman Falls to Death From Plane

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Police said they would continue their search Monday for traces of Mrs. Christine W. Griffin, 44, of Helena, who fell to her apparent death from an airplane Saturday.

A spokesman for the State Police said that the police used their airplane Sunday to search in the Russellville area for some trace of the woman but had been unsuccessful.

Sunday's search operations were halted at dusk.

Authorities said Mrs. Griffin was a passenger in a plane flown by her former husband, Frank Griffin Jr., a prominent Police said Griffin said Mrs. Griffin climbed into the back seat of the airplane and apparently fell out when the plane's door was opened.

Says Bumpers Weather Has Deceived the Public

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Neal Sox Johnson, executive secretary of the state Republican party, says that during the first eight months of the new Democratic administration Gov. Dale Bumpers has deceived the public, betrayed his own supporters and reached a working agreement with the "old guard."

Johnson said that Bumpers had escaped appropriate criticism because of a docile press and the governor's skill at "talking himself out of tough situations."

Johnson pointed out that during Bumpers' campaign he continued to make no statement setting out clearly that he believed new taxes would be necessary. "He led a lot of people to assume he would not seek increases," Johnson said.

Bumpers subsequently went to the General Assembly with a broad tax package and this summer mentioned the possibility of an increase of two cents per gallon in the state's 7 1/2-cent-per-gallon tax on gasoline.

"I think he knew during the campaign that he would have to offer some tax proposals," Johnson said. "Why didn't he say so? I think it was pure campaign strategy, pure politics."

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, who was the 1970 gubernatorial nominee, lost his bid for a third term to Bumpers after continuing his argument that tax legislation was needed to adequately finance state government.

"It was just a case of whether the people wanted the truth or wanted to be deceived," Johnson said. "Governor Rockefeller was being very candid and honest as to state needs. Since this wasn't sweet music to our people's ears, they chose to be told some other thing, and all of a sudden someone was reaching into their pockets."

"I think the people—especially those who supported Bumpers—should feel betrayed," Johnson said, then added, "More than betrayed."

Johnson also pointed to a number of accomplishments of the Bumpers administration that were initiated by Rockefeller. They included the governmental reorganization, repeal of the "fair-trade" liquor law and improvements at the state's prisons.

The governor "sold out" to old guard legislators by seeking the dismissal of Correction Commissioner C. Robert Sarver, Johnson said. The same was apparent in the way Bumpers failed to show support for Col. Ralph D. Scott, formerly State Police director, when Scott offered his resignation, Johnson said.

"He has traded off professionalism to satisfy the court-house politicians," Johnson said.

The governor, he said, has paid only lip-service to the need of blacks, but so far has not been significantly censured because of his ability "to articulate in a way that makes things sound good, until you think through what he said," Johnson said.

nore Basore, 45, the estranged wife of George Basore Jr. Chris Basore, 23, was hospitalized here with chest wounds.

The sheriff said Mrs. Elinore Basore drove up to the Basore residence in a rented car. He said she apparently shot the elder Basores as they stood at the front door. The other bodies were found in a bedroom.

Long said that after the shooting, Mrs. Basore apparently walked out of the house, sat down on the steps, put the pistol in her mouth and pulled the trigger. He said five other persons escaped by running out a back door when the first shots were fired.

The sheriff said the death weapon was a 9mm Browning automatic pistol. He said that it apparently had been reloaded after the first several persons were shot.

Witnesses said the family was about to sit down to dinner when the shooting began. Two places at the table had servings of food.

The younger Basores had been separated since July of last year and Mrs. Basore was living at El Paso, Tex., Long said. She formerly was a teacher at Woodland Junior High School at Fayetteville.

It was learned that Mrs. Basore arrived at Fayetteville aboard a commercial airline flight early Saturday afternoon.

Way Sought to End War in Ireland

By ANTHONY COLLINGS

Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Jack Lynch of Ireland arrived in London today for talks with Edward Heath, the British Prime minister, aimed at halting the growing bloodshed in Northern Ireland.

After a weekend of terror that swelled the two-year death toll in the British province to 99, Lynch flew from Dublin for a summit meeting that stirs few hopes of an early peace settlement.

Chequers, the British leader's country retreat outside London, was the scene for the summit. Heath is expected to ask Lynch to tighten security on his side of the largely unmarked, 260-mile border with Northern Ireland, informed sources said. The British want to end a situation that they feel gives terrorists a sanctuary south of the border.

Lynch denies that the republic's security forces are incapable of preventing most border crossings by gunmen of the outlawed Irish Republican Army—the IRA.

The IRA wants to force Britain to give up Northern Ireland and reunite it with the Irish republic. Lynch wants Ireland reunited but rejects IRA violence.

Heath is expected to agree to consider proposals for reforms in the province that Lynch supports.

One of the suggested reforms is a proposal to introduce proportional representation in the Stormont, the provincial parliament, to give the minority Roman Catholics a greater say in the Protestant-dominated government.

This would give Catholics about one-third of the Stormont seats, in keeping with their proportion of the total 1.4 million population in the British province.

Many Northern Ireland Catholics look to Lynch, as head of the overwhelmingly Catholic Republic across the border, to represent their interests in this summit with Heath.

Lynch also is expected to press their charges of continued mistreatment at the hands of the Protestant majority despite promises of reforms in such things as housing and job opportunity.

Lynch is expected to echo Catholic protests over the introduction a month ago of internment—the arrest without trial of suspected terrorists. Catholics claim internment has worsened tensions and that Protestant extremists have not been among the more than 200 suspects detained.

The British and Northern Ireland governments have rejected these charges. They maintain internment has helped security and that reforms that would benefit the Catholics are going ahead as promised two years ago when British troops were first sent in to put down rioting.

In an apparent IRA move to embarrass Lynch before the summit, gunmen Sunday seized a machine gun and three rifles from Irish troops guarding a television transmitter 15 miles from Dublin. Lynch ordered tighter security at such sites.

The Northern Ireland government meanwhile rejected a threat by the IRA's militant Provisional wing to step up terror unless certain demands are met.

The demands include abolition of the Northern Ireland government and new elections for a regional parliament to cover all Ulster, the official name of Northern Ireland. Six of the nine counties of historic Ulster form the existing province and three are part of the Irish Republic. Another demand is for release of all political prisoners.

The IRA Provisionals offered to stop their guerrilla campaign if the demands were met. But they were rejected immediately by the Northern Ireland government.

The Lynch-Heath summit originally had been set for October but was hastily moved up amid worsening British-Irish relations climaxed by a border gun battle on Aug. 29 in which terrorists killed a British soldier.

Heath said the IRA shot the soldier from sanctuary in the republic, but Lynch said the shots came from Ulster.

Survival Training Didn't Help

BEND, Ore. (AP) — A young married woman participating in the graduation exercise of an outdoor survival school apparently lay down in wet snow and froze to death high on a central Oregon mountain.

A second girl, missing and feared dead, was the object of a search today by mounted sheriff's deputies and instructors of the school. The identities of the two were withheld pending notification of their families.

The dead woman was 21, and an Oregon resident. The missing girl, from an eastern state, is 19.

A third girl, Pamela Sullivan, 18, Seattle, was found safe by an instructor Saturday afternoon near the body of the dead girl. She was taken to a Bend hospital for observation and released.

The young women were taking a course offered by the Eugene, Ore., branch of Outward Bound, Inc., a school which gives training in wilderness survival techniques. The three were a subunit of a class of 43 girls, ages 16 to 23, which had split up for an exercise.

Bill Richards, an associate director of the school, gave this account:

The 43 girls, accompanied by eight instructors, entered the Three Sisters Wilderness Area of the Cascade Mountains on Aug. 18 and spent 10 days training in camping, climbing and survival.

BEND, Ore. (AP) — A young married woman participating in the graduation exercise of an outdoor survival school apparently lay down in wet snow and froze to death high on a central Oregon mountain.

A third girl, Pamela Sullivan, 18, Seattle, was found safe by an instructor Saturday afternoon near the body of the dead girl. She was taken to a Bend hospital for observation and released.

The young women were taking a course offered by the Eugene, Ore., branch of Outward Bound, Inc., a school which gives training in wilderness survival techniques. The three were a subunit of a class of 43 girls, ages 16 to 23, which had split up for an exercise.

Bill Richards, an associate director of the school, gave this account:

The 43 girls, accompanied by eight instructors, entered the Three Sisters Wilderness Area of the Cascade Mountains on Aug. 18 and spent 10 days training in camping, climbing and survival.

On Aug. 27 they gathered at Forc Camp on the Old McKenzie Pass Highway to rest, stock up on provisions and lay plans for the ensuing graduation exercise.

They split into groups of three, four and five without instructors. Each group was assigned a specific route of from 35 to 50 miles over snow-capped mountains and rugged wilderness terrain. They left on Sunday, Aug. 29, to rendezvous the following Wednesday or Thursday at Cougar Dam east of Eugene.

By Thursday evening all the groups except the one including Miss Sullivan had arrived. A party of instructors, including Vern Bush of Eugene, began backtracking over the group's assigned route.

"At 2:30 p.m. Saturday Vern found Pamela at Chambers Lake," Richards said. "She appeared in good health. She was drying out clothes and eating a can of roast beef. She appeared ready to start down the trail."

"Vern asked her where the others were. Pam pointed off to the side. The Vern saw the girl's body. He said she was just lying in the snow. She looked like she was asleep."

The body was lifted out by an Air National Guard helicopter Sunday and the Deschutes County medical examiner listed the cause of death as hypothermia—low body temperature.

"We've found that hypothermia is a weird thing," said Richards. "It just seems to sneak up on you. All of a sudden you're losing your zip. You're losing your appetite. You get tired, listless. You just want to lie down. We think that's what probably happened to the dead girl."

Richards said the girls had an ample food supply and what should have been adequate shelter.

"They had a heavy, wind-tight polyurethane enclosure," he said. "Pam said when the wind and snow came they were afraid to break the seal, to go outside—for anything. It appears their bodily wastes began to accumulate inside to the point where it was unbearable. They finally went out and when they did they got wet. That's what probably started the hypothermia."

Richards said subfreezing temperatures are not necessary in cases of hypothermia. The proper combination of moisture and wind will cause it. This, he said, apparently was the case with the three girls.

"Pam said the other girl wandered down a trail," he said. "Vern followed the trail and began finding pieces of the girl's gear and clothing. Then there was nothing more."

Richards said the Pacific Northwest branch of Outward Bound has graduated 2,000 students since it opened in 1966. He said this was the first fatality. Tuition for the 26-day course is $425, he said.

Outward Bound was started in England during World War II, and came to the U.S. in 1962, he said.

Ex-Senator Hickenlooper Dies at 75

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, a principal author of the Atomic Energy Act of 1946 and of a foreign policy bill that bears his name, is dead at the age of 75.

Hickenlooper was found dead Saturday in Shelter Island, N.Y., at the home of a friend, Henry F. Holthusen.

A former Iowa governor, Hickenlooper was elected to the Senate in 1944 and remained there until 1968 when he decided not to seek re-election.

Key to the Middle Sea

Newly independent after being ruled by foreigners for most of a 2,000-year history, the tiny but strategically placed Mediterranean island of Malta is the center of a complex power play involving the world's greatest powers. Pressuring Britain for a stiff increase in annual subsidies for use of air base and harbor facilities, Malta's Prime Minister Dom Mintoff barred NATO units from the island pending agreement with London. Neighboring and anti-western Libya, urging a complete break, and the Soviet Union, a growing Mediterranean influence and possible replacement for NATO's presence, have been interested bystanders. NATO, for which Malta has been an outpost of the Naples headquarters, looks to even smaller but Italian-owned Pantelleria as an alternative watchpost in the strategic narrow waist of the Mediterranean.

cent, prices by 1 per cent.

—A productivity increase of 10 per cent would allow an industry to raise wages up to 5 per cent but it would be required to cut prices by 5 per cent.

Proxmire said he does not favor an excess-profits tax except as a last resort.

His proposals would require that the President be notified of any major wage or price boosts 30 days before they were to go into effect.

Then, if presidential jawboning failed to persuade the perpetrators to rescind increases to noninflationary levels, the president could order the rollback for one year and enforce it with $5,000 fines for each item increased in price and each worker whose wage was increased.

Proxmire also proposed abandoning the accelerated depreciation allowance now under court tests and making permanent the 10-per-cent investment tax credit suggested by President Nixon.

And he called for cutting government spending by more than the 10 per cent proposed by the President.

Proxmire said he may introduce bills to implement parts of his proposal. He advocated:

—A decrease of 10 to 12 per cent in the value of the dollar. He said this could be effected through President Nixon's action in allowing the dollar to find its own level in international markets.

—Withdrawal of the 10-per-cent surtax on imports—after the dollar drops in value.

Hickenlooper, a native of Blockton, Iowa, a small town on the Taylor-Ringgold county line, began his political career while an attorney in Cedar Rapids. He entered law practice in 1922 after being graduated from the University of Iowa and Iowa State University.

Hickenlooper, regarded as a conservative Republican, was elected in 1934 as a state representative from Linn County. He represented the county for two terms.

What happens when you're offered $16,000 for your $22,400 pile of ashes?

You take it if you haven't increased your home insurance to keep pace with inflation.

This is the kind of problem you could face if you bought and insured your home for $16,000 in 1963. See me to find out if your home is insured for its full value. I'll tell you about a low-cost State Farm Homeowners Policy that will insure your home for all it's worth... and keep it that way with automatic inflation coverage.

Shower For Bride-elect

Miss Cathy Berry, bride-elect of Gerald Morton, was honored with a miscellaneous shower on Friday evening, August 13, in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church with the Nursery School teachers as hostesses.

Attired in pink dotted Swiss, the honoree was given a pink carnation nosegay. Her mother, Mrs. Tom Berry, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Hays Morton, each received a white carnation corsage.

Summer flowers decorated the table where frosted punch, cookies, nuts, and mints were served. Mrs. Charlotte Smith, sister of the groom-elect, registered about 60 at the guest book.

The honoree received a lovely assortment of useful and pretty gifts.

Golden Age Club Meets

The Golden Age Club had a meeting Thursday, September 2, at the Douglas Building with Mrs. Ola Smith, vice-president, in charge. After calling the meeting to order, Mrs. Smith read the 23rd Psalm. The Rev. George Hooten led in prayer.

Routine business was conducted. Then, in the drawing for the door prize, Miss Velma Goss was the winner. Eight members enjoyed dominoes and were served refreshments.

The next meeting on September 16 will be a covered dish luncheon.

Coming, Going

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Benson and son, Shane, Risco, Mo., have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Alderman.

Mr. and Mrs. E.H. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Terry Becherer went to a jeweler's gift show in Dallas this weekend.

Mrs. B.L. Rettig and Mrs. Eula Bonds have returned from a vacation trip to the Hawaiian islands.

Nancy Reese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Reese, will go to Memphis Tuesday to begin study at Baptist Hospital to become a medical records librarian.

Questions, Answers About SS

If you have any questions regarding social security, send them to the Social Security Office, Box 1319, Texarkana, Texas 75501. Attention: Glenda Bozeman

Q. Does Medicare pay benefits if Workmen's Compensation pays the medical expenses?

A. No. Payment cannot be made by Medicare to the extent that payment has been made or reasonably can be expected to be paid by Workmen's Compensation.

Q. If a private person is hired to come into a home to care for an ill person who has just been released from a hospital, will Medicare help pay for these services?

A. No. This type service is not covered by Medicare. The law does pay for Home Health Services. This includes part time skilled nursing care; physical, speech, and occupational therapy. These services must be furnished by a participating Home Health Agency. They must also be furnished under a plan established and periodically reviewed by a physician.

Q. My social security benefits were stopped in January because I expect to earn quite a bit over the $1680 allowed. However, it is now May and I have not been billed for my Medicare premiums. Will my Medical Insurance protection terminate if I don't pay these premiums?

A. No. Apparently your estimated earnings for this year will permit benefits to be reinstated later in the year, and any Medicare premiums due by that time will be deducted from your first check.

Layered Look

A number of measurement problems may be camouflaged by the layered look in clothes. The look is achieved with vests and tunics over the long slit skirt with Hot-Pants underneath.

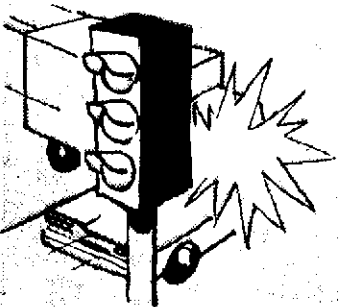

Focus on Legs

Again the fashion focal point is the legs. So be prepared to pick up on those textured tights, over-the-knee socks, laced boots and shoes to complete the picture.

Fickle Traffic Light

For a few dazed moments after the collision, Charles could not quite figure out what had happened. Then he remembered: the traffic light had changed directly from green to red, skipping amber. Unable to stop, he had rolled into the intersection in front of an oncoming truck.

Blaming his accident on the fickle signal, Charles determined to seek damages from the city. But at a court hearing, the city denied liability.

"We can't be held legally liable every time a signal gets out of order. We would be swamped with lawsuits."

However, Charles' attorney proved that this particular signal had been malfunctioning for a full week before the accident. The court concluded that the city was guilty of negligence, and granted Charles' claim.

Some cities still retain their "sovereign immunity" against being sued. But in most places, a motorist can indeed collect damages for an accident caused by a traffic light or a stop sign that has been neglected.

There have even been cases holding the city liable when a stop sign was obscured by foliage. Thus:

A motorist hurt in a crash blamed it on the fact that a stop sign was hidden by the leaves of a tree. In its defense, the city pointed out that the tree was growing on private property — "out of our jurisdiction."

Nevertheless, the court imposed liability. The judge said that even if the city could not have trimmed the tree, at least it could have chosen a better place to put the sign.

Of course, the city is not liable if there is no causal connection between its negligence and the accident. In another case, a fallen stop sign had been left lying on the ground for weeks. One day a motorist failed to halt at the corner and struck a car in the crossing.

But it turned out that the motorist, who lived in the neighborhood, knew perfectly well it was a stop street—even without seeing the sign. The city was duly cleared of responsibility. The court said the city's failure to restore the sign simply had nothing at all to do with the accident.

Of Many Colors

Leotards in many colors and prints are perfect to wear with knickers, midis, HotPants—just about everything. They're attractive and they eliminate the problem of slipping out at the waist or riding up. For the fall, the all-in-one leotard with matching tights is a great look with sweaters and those little suede HotPants.

The diamond-patterned mid-knee dress by Abe Schrader (left) is fringed up the side and on its matching shawl. It's ideal for a cool afternoon on the town. Turtle-neck dress by Jack Bodi (right) is a streak of silk for sophisticated fall evenings. It is in a snowflake pattern knitted exclusively for Concept VII. Both designs are in Trevira and wool.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A familiar old question seems likely to rear up for another series of debates: what is violence on television?

Not even counting the old and new movies—which go in heavily for crime and suspense—there will be 22 series this season dedicated to the category of TV entertainment called "action." The question is whether some of these efforts will sometimes stray over that ill-defined boundary that separates action from violence.

One new series designed to be a rollicking hour of adventure is CBS's "Bearcats." Its producers, a team of veteran action-show writers, believe they know all sure-fire devices to keep the censors' ulcers and the letter-writers quiet.

"The easiest way is to make the villain an object instead of a human being," said David Friedkin.

"For example, instead of making a company of soldiers bad guys, we make our hero's objective and destruction of their fort. We get the people out and then we blow it to smithereens—action, drama, no violence."

Friedkin and his partner, Mort Fine, have been walking the fine line between action and violence since the golden days of radio drama—"Johnny Dollar," and "Front Page"—then graduated to such television efforts as Alfred Hitchcock's series, "I Spy" and "Arrest and Trial."

"What all these are is pure entertainment," Friedkin said. "And at base every one is a simple morality play—the good guys against the bad guys with the good guys winning every time."

"Bearcats" involves a couple of carefree troubleshooters roaming the southwest almost 60 years ago. Besides exploding forts, the series will attempt to build viewer interest by using such period pieces as the Stutz Bearcat of the title plus an assortment of primitive airplanes and even a World War I tank.

"The idea is to make it different," Friedkin said.

Hip Huggers

Just because you're going sporty doesn't mean you can't be feminine. The low-slung hip huggers with sheer body shirts or tunic tops will certainly bring out the woman in you.

Classic Blazer

The classic blazer has returned and is a big part of the new look for fall. This time the blazer is soft suede or crushed velvet and can be matched with many outfits. Along with the blazers come the bright colors and traditional plaids in kilts, skirts and HotPants.

Aging Lines

Be sure to keep the throat and neck area well moisturized to prevent dryness and premature age lines from forming.

At first glance this family room with beamed ceiling, fireplace and functional balcony looks like an architect's expensive dream. It is used by three children, plus the parents, and provides an entertainment center, plus bar with swing-out unit—all are covered when not in use by louvered, fabric covered doors over TV and trompe l'oeil painted bookcase over bar which is a pull-down window shade. At left, draperies disguise sliding glass doors to patio and slim bookshelves make use of awkward area between doors. The balcony, right was built by the breadwinner of the family who is an amateur painter and uses it as his studio. The cathedral ceiling is natural cedar, beams stained a dark color and walls papered in warm natural cork. Floors are wide-plank, hand-pegged oak and furniture, Portuguese sheepskin rug and draperies carry a blue-and-white theme. The room in a Woodbridge, Conn., home was a S. M. Hexter Awards entry.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED for it, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

MARRIAGE SHOULD BE A BUSINESS AGREEMENT

Dear Helen: When you enter into a business partnership, you watch out for all the angles, right?

So why shouldn't the most important contract of all—marriage—be just as carefully organized?

I asked my girl to sign a legal document stating that she is in good health, has no major dental or medical bills coming up and while I'm not so righteous that I insist on virginity, I think she should include a brief on past activities, especially if they involve abortion, lengthy affairs, motherhood, etc.

She tore it up and threw it in my drink, and that's the last I've seen of her. Why?—BORIS

P.S. I was only being practical.

Dear Boris: Practicality and romance don't mix.

Moreover, your "legal document" wouldn't hold up in court: You couldn't win a divorce on grounds of big medical or dental bills, or because your mate held out on a few secrets.

A better rule: If you can't trust a girl without demanding proof, she isn't wife material for you. (And if you insist on "looking in the horse's mouth," you aren't exactly Mr. Ideal Husband of 1971.)—H.

Dear Helen:

Is biting some kind of new fad? About two months ago, two local women were bitten on our town's main street—one in the arm, the other on the leg (she had on hot pants). Not by a dog, but by a tall, long-haired fellow who appeared from nowhere and disappeared as fast.

A few days later I read about a similar case in a South American city. And since then several other gals have been nipped by males, identities unknown. Is this America's answer to the Italian pinch?—SADIE

Dear Sadie:

I hope not!—H.

Dear Helen:

Please tell "One Foot in the Grave," who lost a leg in a dune buggy accident, to walk straight and proud and look the world square in the eye, whether on crutches or a prosthesis.

I thought my life was over, too—twenty years ago—when in my teens, I lost a leg in an accident. But a wise friend taught me that people are crippled only in their minds: whether others pity or admire them depends on their attitude. Of course there may be a few, like her unworthy fiancé, who default, but she'll soon be glad she learned about him in time!

I took my friend's advice and married a man who loved me for myself. I learned to walk so well (and it wasn't easy) that no one suspected when we moved here two years ago—until turned up at the cabana club in a swim suit without my prosthesis. I water ski too. My husband and teenagers are proud that Mama can do anything others do.

There's a club here whose one-legged members are all expert snow skiers. Tell "OFITG" to be glad she's alive, and get on with living!—A LEG TO STAND ON

Dear Helen:

Please settle a family argument. While at a private social club, where there is dancing, do I or don't I dance with someone I don't know, but who says he knows me "from high school."

I asked my husband if it was okay, then danced with the fellow—and caused a monstrous argument when we got home. He says I should have turned him down. I say it's the husband's place to say "Sorry, this dance is taken—by me" if he wants to be so possessive—TWO LEFT FEET

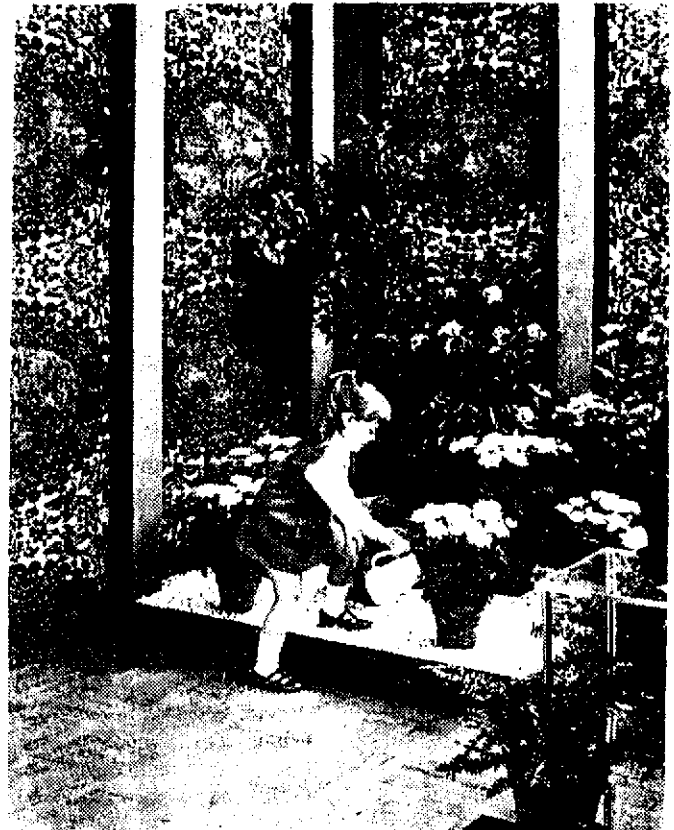

Dear Two:

At a private club, where people should know each other, why not dance with the guy who asks you?—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.

Neil P. Myerberg, an assistant state's attorney in St. Mary's County, has been fired for telling a newspaperman he favored legalization of marijuana.

An indoor garden takes form through use of a batik floral print applied to the wall on narrow wood strips. Added are wood columns painted blue to pick up tones in the batik. Sides of the columns are covered with do-it-yourself mirror squares.

By AILEEN SNODDY

More individuals find they can steal a few square feet from the end of a room, a hallway or foyer and create an indoor garden. The result is a cheerful greeting of myriad colors from clay-potted flowers the year round. The plants and the color mood change with the seasons.

To tie in an area, it is possible now to buy fabric to help create a completely new atmosphere in a room. Use of fabric is a perfect solution to minimize architectural defects such as a sloping ceiling and accompanying low walls. For this problem, line walls with patterned fabric and make a tent of the ceiling with the same fabric.

Narrow entryways and too-high ceilings become an asset by covering the walls with a light-colored fabric and using a darker material on the ceiling.

A nature buff can create an ecology wall, too. Use extra-strength adhesives and apply green velvet or shag carpet tiles to the wall areas. Display plants, mineral specimens and animal figurines on tiny glass shelves against this grasslike backing.

Those who want to set an Oriental tone, perhaps with an indoor garden alcove, now may select from an array of handcrafted batik designs. Batik is the granddaddy of all prints and dates to at least 1,200 years ago. Traditionally, the design subjects are used ornamentally and not in naturalistic form. Rarely do true batik designs show human figures because the Koran strictly forbids it. Currently, a series of batik fabrics are being made exclusively for sale through Sears, Roebuck and Co., which shows how far the "catalogue" merchants have come in recognizing better design for the home.

Fourth Year in Row for Ashdown

By BILL MOORE
Last Friday night in Ashdown, the Hope Bobcats suffered a bitter 8-2 loss to the Panthers in one of the bigger upsets around the area.

After starting off in fine fashion and moving from the Hope 19 yard line to the Ashdown three in fourteen plays, an off-sides penalty pushed the Bobcats back to the eight yard line with a third down coming up. Two plays later the ball was turned over to Ashdown on the one yard line with 4:16 left in the quarter.

Two first downs pushed the ball to the 23 yard line before the Bobcat defense rose up and shut the Panthers out for no yardage on the next three plays. A bad snap from center sent the ball into the endzone and Hope scored a safety with just 43 seconds left in the first quarter.

Now leading 2-0, Hope received the kick and began from their own 43 yard line.

On the second play in the second quarter a Hope fumble gave the Panthers the ball at the Bobcat 45, but one play later halfback Kenneth Ellis intercepted quarterback Mike Carroll's pass and Hope was again in business at their own 40 yard line with 11:02 left in the half.

Three plays later a fumble gave Ashdown the ball on the Bobcat 30 and eight plays later Carroll sneaked into the endzone from one yard out with 5:30 left in the half. He then fired a pass to end Jerry Ward for the two point conversion and an 8-2 lead.

Halfback Ray Wheelington returned the kickoff to the Cat 38 yard line where Hope started. Three plays netted seven yards to the 45 when on fourth down Tommy Miller's punt set Ashdown back to their own 23.

Again Ashdown started driving toward the Hope goal line, but with the defense fighting, too much time was consumed and the half ended with the Panthers at the Bobcat 24 yard line.

Hope took the second half kickoff on their own 31 but on the first play a Tommy Frazier pass was intercepted by Ashdown's Tommy Thrash at the Hope 32 yard line. With a penalty tagged on to that, Ashdown had a first and ten at the Bobcat 22 yard line.

Moving down to the nine, Hope's defense held and with a penalty and an 18 yard loss the Panthers punted.

Biting off yardage to the 27 yard line, another pass was again picked off, this time at the Hope 46 with 3:59 left in the third quarter.

With both teams trading the ball, the Bobcats kept losing field position back to the Bobcat six until Wheelington and Sophomore David Johnson put together some running room out to the Ashdown 45. However a penalty helped kill the drive at the Panther 42.

With 1:47 left in the game, Hope had one last chance but it was killed on another pass interception by Mark Pickett with only 50 seconds left.

Plagued by penalties and interceptions along with a couple of fumbles, the Cats just couldn't put together a consistent drive after the first few minutes.

Hope's next game will be against Prescott Friday night in Hannons Stadium with the Junior Bobkittens playing on Thursday night against the Curley Cubs.

Lake Pitcaica lies at an altitude of 12,500 feet above sea level on the Peruvian-Bolivian border in South America.

Kasko Happy With New Contract

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Boston's Eddie Kasko was happy with his new contract, Baltimore's Earl Weaver groused about the Manager of the Year voting and Detroit's Billy Martin was too busy sending up pinch hitters—a record tying six in one inning—to worry about either of his fellow skippers.

On the field, Washington defeated the Orioles 5-3, the Red Sox thumped Cleveland 8-1 and the New York Yankees held off the Tigers 6-5. Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota beat Oakland 7-3, the Chicago White Sox blanked Kansas City 8-0 and Milwaukee turned back California 6-4.

In the National League, Pittsburgh whipped Montreal 8-2, St. Louis bombed the Chicago Cubs 12-5, Philadelphia trimmed the New York Mets, 7-3, Houston took a pair from San Francisco 1-0 and 5-3, Cincinnati shaded Los Angeles 7-5 and Atlanta downed San Diego 5-2.

One day after infielder Rico Petrocelli blamed Kasko for Boston's third-place standing, 13½ games behind Baltimore, the Red Sox signed their manager for 1972.

"We think Eddie has done a very good job this year," said Dick O'Connell, the team's general manager. "The Red Sox made a good run at the Orioles before going into a tailspin in August."

"I'm just thrilled," smiled Kasko, who has had to contend much of the season with players popping off about one thing or another. "This is one of my happiest moments in baseball."

Then the Red Sox promptly exploded for six runs in the first inning, with Reggie Smith and Duane Josephson lacing tro-run doubles. It was not known whether Weaver's ire was aroused by Dick Billings' three-run homer in the third inning or Tim Lincecum's two-run double in the eighth which prevented Mike Cuellar from gaining his 18th victory.

Detroit's Martin started his parade of pinch hitters with the Tigers trailing the Yankees 6-1 in the seventh inning. Cesar Gutierrez started a four-run rally with a pinch single and scored on Tony Taylor's one-out triple, chasing Mike Kekich.

Lindy McDaniel walked Al Kaline and gave up a run scoring single to Norm Cash before pinch hitter Gates Brown flied out. Jim Northrup, another pinch hitter, doubled two runs across, bringing on Jack Aker.

The Tigers then used three more pinch hitters, setting an AL record and matching the major league mark set by San Francisco in 1958. Dick McAuliffe walked and Dalton Jones reached on an error, loading the bases, but Kevin Collins flied out.

The Yanks scored two decisive runs in the fifth. Bobby Murcer raced home from second on Felipe Alou's single, sending rookie catcher Tim Hosley sprawling. Alou eventually scored what proved to be the winning run on Ron Blomberg's sacrifice fly.

Hosley was carried from the field on a stretcher and sent to a hospital for precautionary X-rays and overnight observation. The only visible injury was a cut inside his mouth.

Rod Carew collected four singles and drove in two runs as Minnesota stopped Oakland behind Bert Blyleven's 11-strikeout pitching. A loss would have mathematically eliminated the fourth-place Twins in the AL West. Tony Oliva also drove in two runs.

Wilbur Wood survived two rain delays to gain his 19th victory, a three-hitter as the White Sox trounced the Royals. The longest wait was 2 hours, 31 minutes—two outs short of an official game. Chicago's attack included Jay Johnstone's pinch three-run homer.

Tommy Harper drove in four runs with homers in the first and second innings and Darrel Porter drove in two more with his first major league hit—a single—and a sacrifice fly to lead the Brewers over the Angels.

walked three. Two batters reached first base on errors. It was Columbus' second no-hitter in eight days. Pitcher Pat Darcy turned in the first one last Sunday as Columbus blanked Charlotte 2-0.

Dave Hill Happy to Break Slump

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — "I think I'm playing better because I don't care."

Dave Hill, a colorful, controversial character who has been fighting a season-long slump, was talking about a five-under-par 68 that vaulted him into a tie for first place Sunday after three rounds of the $10,000 Greater Hartford Open golf tournament.

"The old golf game had just gotten to me. It had just been eating me up. You can't let that happen. So I'm playing my last tournament of the year in this country."

"I've just kind of lost interest this year. I'd rather be home playing a $2 Nassau than out here playing tournament golf."

Hill, a former Vardon Trophy champion and a 13-year veteran of the pro tour, shared the top spot with J.C. Snead going into today's final round in the chase for the $22,000 first prize.

Snead, a hard-hitting nephew of famed Sam Snead, had a 67 to match Hill's 54-hole total of 201, 12-under par on the 6,568-yard Wethersfield Country Club course.

Jack Ewing, the second round leader, slipped to a 70 for 202, one stroke off the pace and one of six at that figure. He was tied with Deane Beman, Lou Graham, Fred Marti, George Archer and Dave Stockton.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Would you mind being quiet until football season is over?"

Washington Loses Game, Quarterback

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Sonny Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins, top ranking passer in the history of the National Football League, has joined the long list of star quarterbacks sidelined by injuries.

He suffered a broken left arm in a 27-10 loss to the Miami Dolphins in an exhibition game Saturday night.

Jurgensen, 37, suffered the injury with 50 seconds remaining in the third quarter when he and several other Redskins tackled Miami safety Dick Anderson, who had just intercepted a Jurgensen aerial.

Dr. P.M. Palumbo, Jr., the Redskins team physician, diagnosed the injury as a "fracture of the coracoid process" after an extensive series of X rays Sunday at Arlington Hospital in Virginia. The coracoid is a small bone between the upper arm and shoulder.

The veteran quarterback, who is entering his 15th NFL season, was flown to Oklahoma City Sunday night for consultation with Dr. Donald O'Donoghue, a bone specialist. Dr. O'Donoghue confirmed that surgery will be necessary and said it might be performed today.

Jurgensen said Sunday night his doctors felt he would be out of action "at least four or five weeks."

Jurgensen joins an illustrious list of injured quarterbacks. Others sidelined at present include Joe Namath, Bart Starr and Johnny Unitas.

Going into this season, Jurgensen had completed 2,184 of 3,863 passes for 29,332 yards and 236 touchdowns, with a completion percentage of 56.5. He holds NFL season records for most passing attempts, 508, most completions, 288, and most yardage, 3,747.

Redskin Coach George Allen must now turn to Bill Kilmer, Jurgensen's veteran back-up man.

In Sunday's only exhibition contest, the Atlanta Falcons scored 38 points in the first half and coasted to a 45-35 victory over the New England Patriots, spoiling Jim Plunkett's debut as a starting pro quarterback.

Veteran running back Jim "Cannonball" Butler of Atlanta ran for a 74-yard touchdown on the opening play from scrimmage, then added touchdown runs of 1 and 11 yards as the Falcons built up their early lead.

In a doubleheader Saturday at Cleveland, Pittsburgh beat the New York Jets 35-21 behind four touchdown passes by Terry Bradshaw, and Cleveland trounced the New York Giants 30-7.

In Saturday night's other exhibition contests, Buffalo topped Detroit 31-17, Oakland edged San Francisco 34-28, Houston trimmed Chicago 37-17, Philadelphia trounced New Orleans 34-0, Cincinnati edged Green Bay 27-24, Denver defeated Minnesota 14-7 and Kansas City and St. Louis battled to a 17-17 tie.

Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich pointed to Bill Nelsen, the veteran quarterback who was making his first start, as the difference in the Cleveland offense. "A great catalyst was there. Bill led them to the big play," he raved. "Bill Nelsen's number one?" he added, referring to his battle with Mike Phipps for the starting job.

Alex Webster, his Giants winless in five outings, was understandably gloom. "We have a long way to go," he sighed after the game.

Detroit Lion owner William Clay Ford had some harsh words for his club, expected to be a contender for the NFL crown but only 2-3 in preseason play.

"They're just not sharp, not even trying," he said after the loss to Buffalo. "This was a shoddy performance. They don't care if it's a preseason, season or Super Bowl game, we're out to win them all. There was no excuse."

The cross-state rivalry between Kansas City and St. Louis was decided, or undecided, on two field goals within the final 19 seconds. Jim Bakken put the Cardinals ahead with a 47-yard field goal with 19 seconds showing on the clock, but Jan Stenerud tied the contest with a 28-yarder as the final gun sounded.

The New Orleans game, played in Tulane Stadium during a thunderstorm which dropped more than four inches of rain on the field, was ended by referee Jerry Vest with 33 seconds remaining on the clock.

Lightning was visible from the stadium throughout the third and fourth periods, and since the game was so one-sided, Vest decided discretion was the better part of valor.

Coach Thinks Porkers Look Better

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said the Razorbacks showed a marked improvement following a two-hour scrimmage Saturday.

"I thought we showed a little more awareness of what we've been trying to teach all fall," said Broyles. "The offense executed better than they did last week or in last Saturday's scrimmage. I think they showed a lot of progress."

Joe Ferguson directed the first-team offense for most of the scrimmage. Ferguson moved the ball well against the combination of reserve varsity and freshmen players.

The Shreveport, La., junior passed for 171 yards, completing 11 of 18 throws. Ferguson scored on passes of 29 yards to Jim Hodge and 19 yards to Mike Reppond.

Reserve quarterback John Jenkins hit three of 10 attempts for 56 yards.

Dickey Morton led in rushing with 117 yards on 13 carries. Fullback Skipper DeBorde followed Morton with 45 yards on eight carries. Jon Richardson carried once for four yards.

Arkansans Near Top
WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—R. H. Sikes of Springdale, Ark., had a 204 total Sunday in the third round of the $100,000 Greater Hartford Open golf tournament.

Stennett Changes Statistics

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Rennie Stennett, busy making a home for himself in Pittsburgh's infield, has reversed one of baseball's classic scouting reports.

"Good field, no hit," was the concise way Mike Gonzales described a since-forgotten minor leaguer when he was a coach for the St. Louis Cardinals back in the 1940s.

Stennett, however, is anything but a no-hit batter for the Pirates—but over enthusiastic fielding has his teammates running for cover.

The 20-year-old Panamanian cleaned the batter off his fingers Sunday, though, playing flawlessly at second base, and continued his torrid batting with a single, double and his first major league home run, scoring two runs and driving in a pair to help the pennant pursuing Pirates to an 8-2 victory over Montreal.

In other National League action, St. Louis beat the Chicago Cubs 12-5, Houston swept two from San Francisco 1-0 and 5-3, Philadelphia defeated the New York Mets 7-3, Cincinnati topped Los Angeles 7-5 and Atlanta topped San Diego 5-2.

In the American League, Washington beat Baltimore 5-3, Boston clubbed Cleveland 8-1, the New York Yankees nipped Detroit 6-5, Minnesota topped California 6-4 and the Chicago White Sox mauled Kansas City 8-9.

Despite Stennett's errorless performance against the Expos, Pirates Manager Danny Murtaugh was taking no chances. He replaced the youngster at second with veteran Bill Mazeroski in the eighth inning.

It was a precaution to prevent a recurrence of Friday night's game when Stennett's error enabled the Expos to rally for three ninth-inning runs and a 6-4 victory—and Saturday's, when his muscled in the eighth gave them three unearned runs that sent the game into extra innings. The Pirates won that one 7-6 in 11 innings.

Stennett was called up from Charleston in July to replace Dave Cash, who went on military leave. Now Cash is back—and Murtaugh is believed to be considering moving him to shortstop to alternate, replace or back up Gene Alley.

Stennett said he has only one regret—and it's a small one, indeed—about joining the Pirates. He was batting .352, including 19 doubles, 10 triples and three home runs, when they brought him up from Charleston. And that move cost him a chance for the International League batting championship.

He's doing even better with the Bucs, though, hitting at a .402 clip with three doubles and three triples along with his homer and is riding a 14-game hitting streak.

One of his hits Sunday fell over the center field wall as the Bucs clubbed three homers. Major league leader Willie Stargell rapped his 43rd and Milt May added his sixth.

The Cards remained six games back of Pittsburgh in the National League East as Joe Torre, raising his major league leading average to .364, slapped three of his team's 20 hits and drove in two runs, boosting his RBI count to 118, also tops in the majors.

Jack Billingham pitched a five-hitter and struck out 11 as the Astros snapped San Francisco's five-game winning string in the opener. But James Rodney Richard outshone his teammate in the nightcap.

Richard, a 6-foot-8, 222-pounder gave up seven hits but struck out 15 Giants to tie the record by a pitcher in his major league

Osborne Leads Assault on Favorites

By KAROL STONGER
Associated Press Sports Writer
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Jim Osborne led the assault today on seeded players in the third round of the U.S. Open tennis championships.

"I've never gone all the way in any big tourney," said the tall, slim player from Honolulu after he upset sixth-seeded Cliff Richey 6-7, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 Sunday.

"I've had some big wins, then I just sorta wear out," added the 26-year-old economics graduate of the University of Utah who looks more like a scholar than an athlete.

Osborne's upset of the nation's top-ranked player was one of three stunners at the West Side Tennis Club. Bob Carmichael, a former Australian carpenter who now lives in France, crushed No. 8 Ilie Nastase of Romania 6-3, 6-3, 7-6 and Britain's Joyce Williams stunned No. 8 Julie Heldman 7-5, 6-4.

Miss Heldman, New York City, was the first of the women's seeds to be eliminated.

Arthur Ashe, of Richmond, Va., and ranked No. 3 in this classic, ousted Mark Cox of Britain 7-5, 6-2, 6-2 on the center court where sentimental favorite Pancho Gonzales, the 43-year-old open champion in 1948 and 1949, lost to Manuel Orantes of Mexico 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1.

Australians Judy Dalton and Kerry Melville and American Rosemary Casals, all seeded players, advanced to the women's singles quarter-finals with straight-set victories.

Working on the Monday holiday to move into the men's round of 16 will be No. 2 Sam Smith, No. 4 Tom Okker and No. 7 Clark Graebner who advanced with straight-set victories Saturday, and Marty Riessen, No. 5, who had to go four sets on the center court to defeat Bob Hewitt of South Africa 7-6, 6-7, 6-2, 6-2.

Okker, the only foreign seed in action, was to meet Toshiro Sakai of Japan; Riessen of Evanston, Ill., was to face Jan

Leschly of Denmark and Graebner, of New York City, was to take on Jaimie Fillof of Chile.

In an all-U.S. match, Smith, of Pasadena, Calif., opposed Tom Leonard of Arcadia, Calif.

In two other All-U.S. matches, top-ranked Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., was to play Linda Tuerio of Metairie, La., and Richey's sister, Nancy Gunter, ranked No. 7, was scheduled to go against Laura DuPont of Wilmington, Del.

Both Mrs. King and Mrs. Gunter advanced on straight-set victories Saturday.

Teen-age sensation Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was to meet her first seeded opponent, No. 5 Francoise Durr of France.

Trying to Make the Owner Happy

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Eagle Coach Jerry Williams didn't exactly get a vote of confidence after last season when owner Len Tose shopped for a new coach, couldn't find the one he wanted, so kept Williams.

All Williams has to do to make the boss happy and keep his job is improve a 3-10-1 record to at least .500 against one of the toughest 1971 National Football League schedules. The Eagles' first five opponents won division titles last season.

The odds are better that Williams won't last the season than they are on the Eagles reaching .500 this year. The club appears pressed to equal its 1970 record, despite a good player draft and improvement in some areas.

Williams' fate hinges on the tried but so far round wanting right arm of quarterback Pete Liske, a weak offensive line, a defensive secondary that intercepted only 10 passes last season, a rookie placekicker and a running game that has to carry the tag of suspect. The defensive line and linebackers appear strong and should keep the scores respectable.

The Eagles traded veteran quarterback Norm Snead to Minnesota after acquiring promising Greg Barton from Detroit. Barton, however, ran off to Canada, and that brought Liske here for a No. 6 draft choice. Liske completed 112 of 238 passes for 1,340 yards and seven touchdowns for Denver in the American Conference last season.

Williams, who once coached Liske at Calgary, is confident the former Penn State quarterback can get the job done. "Pete's a very capable quarterback," Williams says. "He's got good experience. He's a very smart individual. He's a team leader. The rumor that he cannot throw the long ball is strictly rumor."

Should the rumor turn to fact, the Eagles have last year's rookie, Rick Arrington, as backup quarterback.

Should the Eagles find a passer they have a good corps of receivers. Veterans Ben Hawkins and Harold Jackson are back at flanker, and Gary Ballman returns to a tight end spot. Rookie Harold Carmichael from Southern University, a 6-foot-7, No. 7 draft choice, has looked good in drills.

Veteran Tom Woodeschick, coming off an ankle injury that cost him seven games in 1970, leads the running backs. Cyril Pinder and Lee Boungess also are back, and rookie Tom Bailey from Florida State has impressed camp watchers.

Happy Feller, the highly touted kicker from Texas, a No. 4 draft choice last winter, has the kickoff, and place-kicking jobs unless he shows he can't handle them. He holds the NCAA record for extra points (128) and for points scored kicking (185), but this isn't the NCAA. It's the NFL. Veteran Bill Bradley, who missed much of last season with a knee injury, is battling Tom McNeill and Tom Beall for the punting duties.

The defensive front four of ends Ernie Calloway (6-6, 250), Mel Tom (6-5, 255), and tackles Garry Pettigrew (6-5, 255), and Don Hult (6-3, 241) looks strong. Also tough and young are linebackers Ron Porter, Tim Sossovich and Adrian Young.

The defensive backfield intercepted only 10 passes last season although it was second in the league statistically. Bradley and Steve Preece appear the safeties with Al Nelson and Richard Harvey battling Nate Ramsey, Ray Jones and Jim

PRO CHARTS

by MURRAY OLDERMAN

National Conference: Eastern Division NEW YORK GIANTS

PROSPECTUS—Can charisma conquer all? Tune in to Alex Webster, the kindly soul, who commutes 140 miles to work every day—and is smart enough to leave most of coaching to his staff. That's been revamped this year and should provide more stable operation. But lack of talent in several areas still prevails. They'll be lucky to match last year's 9-5 record.

Offense

PASSING—No man means more to any team than flitting Francis Tarkenton. He leads by virtue, if not example. No picture book passer but record books bear testimony. He's among top five flingers of all time. Rating—B+.

RUNNING—Remarkable emergence of Ron Johnson as 1,000-yard man buys this department. Ron's right with Larry Brown of Skins as Mr. Versatility. And he's got Tucker Frederickson to block for him. Tuck's knees will never get any better. Maybe Junior Coffey's will. Bobby Duhan's in reserve. Rating—B+.

RECEIVING—Drafted Rocky Thompson No. 1 because there's desperate need for deep speed. Clifton McNeil, Don Herrmann run pretty patterns, but don't get far. They're hoping Bob Tucker's debut at tight end wasn't illusion. Even prolonging old Joe Morrison's career as tight end. Rating—B.

LINE—Veteran personnel prevail, and except for Greg Larson (now 32) it's all in physical prime. But none of them really stick out. They're sustaining pros like guard Doug Van Horn, guard Charlie Harper, tackles Willie Young and Dick Buzin. Big draftee Wayne Walton, a tackle, and guard Larry Gagner, obtained from Pittsburgh, have chance to make impact. Rating—B-.

Defense

LINE—Same old mish-mash. Wes Grant no sooner made club than left in huff (not Sam). Closest thing to class is Fred Dryer, and he can be pushed around by big guys. Mystery is how club persists in not drafting big studs. Keep dredging up retirees like Willie Townes. Finally traded for old 49er Roland Lakes to team with Jim Kanicki at tackle. Rating—C.

LINEBACKING—Whole new outlook with fine development of big Jim Files as middle man. Problem is to surround him with strong types. Matt Hazeltime, at 37, is running out of football. Ralph Heck gets by on brains, not bruising. Maybe the future lies with kids like John Douglas, rookie Ron Hornsby. Rating—B-.

SECONDARY—Best that can be said for it is togetherness. Corners Willie Williams, Scott Eaton, safeties Spider Lockhart (unit leader), Tom Longo have been playing together long enough now to know and complement each other. What they lack is real speed burner. Mike Gaechter, on trial from Cowboys, is older than all of them and faster. Rating—B.

KICKING—If Bill Johnson could punt in game like he does in practice, it would help. Original soccer-styler Pete Gogolak still side-winding field goals with strength. Rating—B.

Prediction

Fran can't keep running out of predicaments. Fourth in East.

Cardinals Have a New Head Coach

By PAUL LEBAR

Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals' Bob Hollway has ideas on "big plays" in football, and a major percentage revolves around defense.

Thus the Cardinals' new head coach, installed in February, is more concerned about pass rush than rushing prior to the National Football League season but two weeks away.

Hollway, four-season drill instructor for the Minnesota Vikings' famed Purple People-Eaters under Bud Grant, comes by his attitudes naturally.

"When the Vikings won the NFL title in 1969 we had just as many points resulting from the 'big play' on defense as we did the big play on offense," he says.

"On defense you've always got to be on the attack, forcing the other team to make mistakes. Offense is inconsistent. The defense, if it's secure, will keep you in every game."

In remodeling a basically stout Cardinals defense thin only at linebacking, his early anxieties have been lack of pressure on opposing quarterbacks in three preseason games and dropped passes, both offensively and defensively.

"A lot of pass rush may be raw, natural ability and it seems that the only player we have with the ability to be a great rusher is Ron Yankowski," Hollway remarks.

In referring to Yankowski, a 6-foot-5, 225-pound rookie defensive end, Hollway hinted changes could occur in a front four last year consisting of Ron Krueger, Bob Rowe, Fred He-

Thrower for the corner posts. Richard Harris, the 265 pound defensive end, who was the MVP of the All-Star game, and Henry Allison, a strong, fast offensive guard from San Diego State, the No. 1 and 2 draft choices last winter, have impressed and could be starters before the season is too old.

ron and Chuck Walker, all of whom are back.

Hollway inherited a club which he concedes "has championship potential" and "the potential to go all the way offensively on any play." The Cards, after a strong beginning in 1970, faltered and finished 8-1, third in the National Conference East.

Departments Hollway considers strong and stable include the defensive secondary—which consists of cornerbacks Roger Whrli and Miller Farr and safeties Larry Wilson and Jerry Stovall—the receiving and the running.

Tank-like MacArthur Lane busted through opponents' lines for 977 yards in 1970 third best in the NFC, and vets Johnny Roland and Cid Edwards added 392 and 350, respectively.

If the Cardinals are bereft of a top-echelon quarterback, Hollway has shown no dismay. Jim Hart and Pete Beathard are neck-and-neck for the starting job. "Either can do the job, but it won't be both," Hollway says.

Bigger questions marks than those posed by a mistake-ridden offense in a 1-2 preseason record to date are those involving linebacking and an offensive line showing the wear and tear of age.

Tackles Ernie McMillan and Bob Reynolds are good but are 33 and 32 years old. Guard Irv Goode is 30, Guard Clyde Williams 30 and third-season center Wayne Mulligan, only 24, is out with a shoulder dislocation.

The Cardinals' linebacking stock sagged following the loss to Cincinnati when right linebacker Don Parish, the club's top rookie in 1970, was shelved with a knee injury.

Flying Cowboy
Dallas Cowboy place-kicker Mike Clark flies as a hobby and owns his own bi-plane. He says his biggest flying thrill came last spring when he flew the only B-24 still in flying condition.

Rookie's Lesson

Rookie offensive guard Wayne Walton of the New York Giants has learned something: "When you whack a fellow up here, nothing happens. In college they used to go down."

Porkers Are Named in Top 10 Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ara Parseghian wasn't over-impressed—at least of the surface—that his Notre Dame football team was picked to win The Associated Press' preseason college poll.

And Bob Devaney wasn't overly concerned that his Nebraska Cornhuskers, first in the final poll for the 1970 season, don't occupy the top spot for the start of the '71 campaign.

"Football games are played on the field the game day," was Parseghian's reaction.

"It's nice to be picked up there ... but the ones at the end of the season are the ones that count," said Devaney.

The poll, released Saturday night, listed Notre Dame first, Nebraska second.

Texas finished third, followed by Michigan, Southern California, Auburn, Arkansas, Tennessee, Louisiana State and Oklahoma.

Ohio State heads the second ten, followed by Penn State, Syracuse, Arizona State, UCLA, Alabama, Georgia Tech, Georgia, Stanford and Northwestern.

Forward Gal Has Things Working Well

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer
Everything went as planned for Forward Gal; things didn't work out for Fort Marcy but staminate Run The Gantlet saved the day.

"The plan was to go to the lead or with the leader," said jockey Mike Hole after Forward Gal took the lead and the start and went on to win the $56,200 Gazelle Handicap for 3-year-old fillies Saturday at Bel-

Southampton Team Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — A team from Southampton won the first international polo tournament Sunday afternoon, defeating eight other teams from the United States, Canada and Buenos Aires.

The winning team was captained by Andres Carrillo.

Fort Marcy, the 1970 Horse of the Year, didn't get the job done for owner Paul Mellon and trainer Elliot Burch in the $33,850 Kelly-Olympic Handicap at Atlantic City but the 3-year-old Run The Gantlet did.

Run The Gantlet, 115 pounds and Bobby Woodhouse, charged between horses for a three-quarters length victory over Charlie's Luck, 110, with Fort March, 126, third. The winner covered the 1 1/4 miles on the grass in 1:48 3/5 and paid a winning mutual of $4.60.

The Gazelle was the fourth stakes victory of the year and eighth of her career for Aisco Stable's Forward Gal, 123, who ran the 1 1/4 miles on the turf in a stakes record 1:48 3/5 for a three-length victory over Our Cheri Amour, 118, with Alma North, 123 third.

Cassie Red, owned by Charles Windle and ridden by William Gavidia, made the $33,600 Sun Beau Handicap at Hawthorne his second stakes triumph in two weeks by beating Judge Tytus by three lengths. The winner ran the 1 3/16 mile on the grass in 2:00 1/5 and paid $11.80.

In the $30,900 Rosemont Stakes for 3-year-olds at Delaware Park, John W. Galbreath's Good Counsel, ridden by Bill Hartack, came on in the final strides to beat Rough Place. Good Counsel ran the 1 1/16 miles in 1:44 1/5 and paid $3.60.

Today's big race was the $115,100-added Governor Stakes at Belmont Park.

Winning at Darlington a Tradition

By HUBERT MIZELL

Associated Press Sports Writer
DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — If your name is Elizie Wylie "Buddy" Baker Jr., you were born to win at Darlington Raceway.

"It's a family tradition," said Baker. My daddy won three races at Darlington. Now it's my turn."

Buddy was getting his chance today for a third consecutive trip to victory lane at the aging race track. His white Dodge was one of the prerace favorites in the 22nd Southern 500.

"I believe I can make it three victories in a row here," predicted the 6-foot-5 racing son of stock car great Elizie Wylie "Buck" Baker Sr.

"To the Bakers, Darlington is home."

Buck Baker, long-haired and super mod in the middle 50s, won the 500-mile classic three times in his glittering Grand National career.

Old Buck still runs stock cars in the tamer Grand American class of NASCAR.

"I was 12 years old when my dad won in a 1963 Oldsmobile," said Buddy, now 30. "He won again in 1960 in a Pontiac and in 1964 with a Dodge."

The curly-haired Buddy went up against 39 other automotive speedsters at noon today in an attempt to make it three straight at Darlington.

Champion of the 367-lapper was to receive $22,400.

The younger Baker, born 10 miles away at Florence, S.C., won last year's Southern 500 and captured the Rebel 400 here in May.

Richard Petty, son of another stock car giant, owns Buddy's car and the Chrysler power-erhouse race as a team "out of the same tool box."

The two Petty entries plus blazing Mercury man Bobby Allison ranked as the ones to watch in the Southern, a race that sometimes turns into a mini-demolition derby on the tight turns.

Richard has far outdone his pop, becoming the biggest winner in NASCAR history with more than $1 million in career earnings. Petty will be at the controls of his familiar blue Plymouth.

Allison, a Hueytown, Ala., wonder, took the pole with a clocking of 147.915 miles an hour. He won six of the last nine major events.

Staring beside Allison in the front row was Pete Hamilton in a Plymouth.

Winner Sees Victory as Not Fluke

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Gary Cowan feels that his victory Saturday in the 71st U.S. Amateur Golf championship proves his 1966 national amateur triumph was no fluke.

"I didn't feel it was tainted in '66," he said, indicating that some people did feel that way.

"This was much more satisfying because I won it once and have won it again," added the 32-year-old Canadian insurance broker.

What Cowan referred to was a magazine article after his 1966 playoff victory over Deane Beaman at Merion Pa. Golf Club, which said that Cowan hadn't really won, but Beaman beat himself. Beaman blew big leads in the final round and again in the playoff.

Nobody could say that someone else lost the 1971 amateur ... Cowan silenced that possibility when he stroked a nine iron 135-yards into the cup for an eagle two on the final hole of the 72 hole tournament. It gave him a three-stroke victory over 19-year-old Eddie Pearce, Wake Forest golfer from Temple Terrace, Fla.

Oswald: "You and Bobby Wolff employed limit raises in winning the world's championship. Nearly all experts use them. We have made them part of JACOBY MODERN bidding, since they are very effective and easy to learn."

Jim: "There is nothing difficult about limit raises. Basically, when you get around to raising your partner, the single raise shows support for his suit, but does not invite further action. The jump to three shows very good support and is a strong invitation to game, but not an absolute force. While a jump to game is a bid of game."

Oswald: "North's jump to three spades is one of those limit jump raises. He has 11, or maybe 12, points in support of spades and wants to encourage a bid of game without absolutely committing the hand to that high a contract."

Jim: "If the jump to three were a force, North would have to bid just two spades."

South would pass and the hand would play there."

Oswald: "South should have no trouble making four spades. The defense starts with two club tricks and East shifts to a trump. South wins in dummy and should attack diamonds right away. He cashes the ace and king, ruffs a diamond in dummy, enters his hand with a trump, ruffs another diamond, concedes a heart, ruffs a club or heart, draws East's last trump and claims his contract."

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Changes Can Be Unimportant or Vital

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb: Could you give me some information on electrocardiograms? What makes them vary in people? On my annual examination last year, mine was classed as abnormal because of flat "T" waves. The year before, it was borderline. My doctor had me go every three months to see if there was any change. There wasn't and it is still the same. I seem to be in good health. I do not smoke or drink and use Sanka. My blood pressure is 114/76. I am five feet, two inches and weigh 113 pounds. My cholesterol is 244. So all tests prove normal.

My doctor sent me to a heart specialist and he found no symptoms of heart disease. He said for my piece of mind he would put me through an exercise program to bring my cardiogram back to normal. If this is normal for me to have a cardiogram like mine, then is there any harm in leaving well-enough alone?

Dear Reader—No, there isn't any harm in leaving well-enough alone. Sometimes skillful neglect is excellent medicine. Electrocardiograms are the graphic record of the electrical activity of your heart that occurs with each heart beat. The electrical impulse passing over the heart muscle stimulates it to beat each time. We have established characteristics of the graph as normal on the basis of many tests.

I have studied electrocardiograms in well over 100,000 healthy men and a lesser number of women. The men were from the U.S. Air Force population, including space pilots and astronauts. The women were Air Force nurses and women officers. The change in what is called the "T" wave is the most common variation in the electrocardiogram in individuals, even in good health. We have learned that the "T" wave can be changed from a variety of unimportant causes to some very important ones, like high blood pressure and changes in the heart from heart muscle damage. You usually have to examine the patient with the record to be able to tell if it is important or not.

The best rule of thumb is that, if the person has no other evidence of heart disease, the change should be ignored—unless it represents a change in the record compared to previous ones.

From a practical point of view, there isn't anything constructive you can do about it that you shouldn't do anyway—like controlling your body weight and getting adequate exercise. You can do that on your own. I would like to see your cholesterol level be a little lower. This suggests diet and exercise for most people.

In the future, when you have an examination, be sure that you get your heart tracing while you are fasting (no food, coffee or cigarettes). About half of the people who have "T" wave changes that cause a lot of confusion have normal "T" waves when they are fasting. This will save both you and your doctor a lot of trouble. I would recommend fasting to anyone having such an examination.

LEGAL NOTICE

The Saratoga School District No. 11 today announced a free lunch policy for District No. 11 school children unable to pay the full price.

Local School Officials have adopted the following family size and income scale to assist them in determining eligibility.

48 States
D.C., and outlying
areas 1	$2,040
Two	2,670
Three	3,310
Four	3,940
Five	4,580
Six	5,110
Seven	5,640
Eight	6,170
Nine	6,650
Ten	7,120
Eleven	7,600
Twelve	8,080
Each additional family member	480

Families falling within these scales or those suffering from unusual circumstances or hardships are urged to apply for free lunches for their children. They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. The form itself is simple to complete and requests information needed to determine economic need based on the income and number of persons in the family and any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the families ability to pay for school lunches. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

Under the provisions of the policy the Supervisor will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the local official he may make a request either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision. Mr. M.H. Peebles, whose address is Saratoga High School, Saratoga, Arkansas has been designated as the Hearing Official. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy.

The policy also provides that there will be no identification of or discrimination against any student unable to pay the full cost of a lunch.

A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the office of the Counselor where it may be reviewed by any interested patron.

Has Idea to Prevent Ulcers

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An occasional pat on the back from his wife or co-workers could save many an executive from ulcers, says a New York psychologist.

In a report to the American Psychological Association's annual meeting Sunday, Dr. Jay M. Weiss of The Rockefeller University said tests with rats bear out his theory that stomach ulcers are not wholly the result of emotional responses, such as fear, as traditionally believed.

Rather, they develop if an individual doesn't make enough "coping attempts" in the face of tough situations, and doesn't get enough pats on the back for his efforts.

Weiss said he and his colleagues found that if a signal is given to a rat before he receives an electric shock—so he can predict when a shock will occur—he'll develop fewer and smaller ulcers than a rat that receives the same shocks but cannot predict when the shocks will occur.

Moreover, Weiss said, if the rat is able to take action to avoid or escape the shock, he'll develop fewer ulcers than an animal that receives the same shocks but has no environmental control over them.

But, the researcher stressed, rats—and presumably men—require some rewarding "feedback" from their "coping" efforts, to assure them that they're at least trying to take the right course.

In the rat tests, rodents could postpone the impending electric shock for almost four minutes by turning wheels in their cages. When the animal turned a wheel, a tone sounded—providing a "green light" to him that everything was all right, Weiss said.

The psychologist said a byproduct of the rat research was the finding that animals able to cope with shock showed an increase in the brain hormone "nor-epinephrine."

Depletion of this hormone in the human brain is suspected of being a contributory cause of mental depression, Weiss said.

The new experiments "may well have implications for the understanding and treatment of various psychological disorders."

Shreveport Again Licks Travelers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Shreveport Captains defeated the Arkansas Travelers 3-2 here Sunday in Dixie Association play.

The Travelers had the bases loaded at the end of the ninth inning, but failed to come through with the run needed to tie the game.

At the start of the ninth inning, the Travelers were behind 3-1.

With the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth, the Travelers gained their second run of the game on a walk which forced in pinch-runner George Greer.

The Travelers face Shreveport in the last home game of the season Monday afternoon at Ray Winder Field here.

Indians Back to Tough Workouts

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State's Indians were to return to breakdown drills and unit learning sessions today following a major scrimmage Saturday.

Coach Bill Davidson said he was unimpressed with the performance of the defense during the scrimmage, but was disappointed with the offensive unit. Davidson singled out defensive tackle Cleve Barfield and Chris Millwee along with defense ends Steve Bryant and Dave Muckensturm. He said all four did an outstanding job.

He said the offense did a poor job on the passing game, but the running backs did a good job of running the ball.

Early Patent

The first patent granted in the United States was to Samuel Winslow of Massachusetts in 1641 for a novel method of making salt, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Genya Ravan

OUT ON HER OWN—Genya Ravan split from the Ten Wheel Drive and is singing solo with her own group. Her first album, "Genya Ravan's Baby," will be released some time next month.

Incidentally, it was the very same Genya a few years back who used to call herself Goldie. The group was Goldie and the Gingerbreads, one of the first successful all-girl rock groups. They had their heyday during the mid-'60s, especially among the jet set crowd.

JFK Center Opens to the Public

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirteen years and four days after the enabling legislation was enacted, the John F. Kennedy Center for the performing arts opens to the general public tonight.

The occasion is a dress rehearsal of Leonard Bernstein's

"Mass," a new work created especially for the inaugural week of the first national cultural center, located on the bank of the Potomac River near the Lincoln Memorial. Tickets for tonight's performance were sold to the public.

The "Mass" will be repeated Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. Most seats for Tuesday's performance are reserved for members of Congress, the diplomatic corps and governors.

The Wednesday night performance is billed as the formal opening. Invited to buy tickets for it at a top price of $100 were members of the Kennedy family, the Supreme Court, the Cabinet and other top administration officials and those who have made sizable contributions to the cost of the center.

John F. Kennedy's widow, Mrs. Aristotle Onassis, sent word late last week that she would stay away for personal and private reasons. Other members of the family including matriarch Rose Kennedy and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy are expected.

The Bernstein work, with a cast of more than 200 singers, dancers and instrumentalists, is being staged in the concert hall, one of three major halls in the massive marble center. It seats 2,320.

A second, the 2,760-seat concert hall, will have its premiere on Thursday night with a concert by the National Symphony Orchestra conducted by its music director, Antal Dorati. President and Mrs. Nixon plan to attend.

The playhouse, named for President Dwight D. Eisenhower, will not be completed until mid-October.

Monday, September 6, 1971

Congress decreed shortly after his assassination that the center-up until then called the National Cultural Center—should be the national capital's memorial to President Kennedy. A bust of Kennedy, more than six feet tall, was placed in the center's grand foyer.

Some of the center's most spectacular furnishings were contributed by foreign nations as their tributes to Kennedy.

Oldest synagogue in America is the Touro Synagogue built in 1793 at Newport, R.I. It is a national historic site.
